Online Resources at the Londonmet libraries

What are Online Resources?

Hi I am Dawn. I am one of a team of subject librarians within London Metropolitan University.

Online Resources? What are they?

They are journals or periodicals, databases and books that are available in electronic format, also called e-journals, online databases and ebooks.

- Journals, magazines and newspapers are all types of periodicals. Periodicals are publications that are published daily, weekly, monthly, quarterly or annually.
- An Online database is an electronic collection of information. You can use a database to research a subject - for example, to find relevant journal articles.

The library subscribes to various Online Resources. A list of Online Resources specific to your subject can be found from the subject guide link on the library home page.

Most of our Online Resources can be accessed from outside the university by using your londonmet student username and password.

- Note: your London met student username is located at the top of your student id card next to your picture. Your password is your date of birth.
- These 6 numbers are in the form: day/month/year e.g. 25/12/88. There are no spaces between the numbers.

The address or URL for the library homepage is www.londonmet.ac.uk forward slash library.

Thanks for listening.
