The Faculty

The Faculty offers a wide spectrum of subject expertise, combining professionally recognised qualifications with innovative and socially orientated courses. We offer a friendly personal service that prioritises success. Flexible learning enables module materials and reading to be accessed on-line, while our course tutor system ensures that your progress is supported throughout your studies. All subject tutors have drop-in times when they are available to see you and to discuss your work. Above all, we aim to work in small groups so that you can explore ideas, and enjoy learning with us. With efficient management, we try to keep your course fees low, without compromising the quality of your education. Students are represented at all levels within the Faculty and play a very active and valued role in keeping our courses up to scratch

Our Location

All teaching takes place at City Campus, on the borders of both the financial centre of the City of London, and also to Brick Lane and Spitalfields, with their vibrant, artistic communities. We work hard to make the most of our location in the heart of one of the world's most exciting cities. We have strong links with London's legal and political communities, as well as with the city's large community of scholars

Our Facilities

Our dedicated faculty building incorporates a moot courtroom, wi-fi facilities, coffee shop, meeting areas, IT Labs and excellent teaching facilities. Adjoining this, Calcutta House incorporates the library, a bookshop and further IT labs for study. The Student Union bar (The HUB), a Career's Office, a brand new fitness centre and the Women's Library all within a couple of minutes walk combine to make it an ideal place to study

Our Courses

Our programmes were given the highest ratings by the Quality Assurance Agency. In the most recent Research Assessment Exercise, over half the faculty's publications were accorded international status. It is this specialist knowledge that informs our teaching and courses. The Solicitors Regulation Authority and the Bar Standards Board officially recognise our LLB programmes as Qualifying Law Degrees, enabling students to proceed to the next stage of training for professional practice in law. We offer one of the widest selections of Politics, Governance and International Relations courses in the country.

Employability

The faculty places considerable emphasis on both high-quality teaching and enhancing your prospect of finding suitable employment after graduation. We aim to provide you with that competitive edge to enhance your CV. For example, Clinical Legal Education opportunities, brings you together with City practices, high-street law firms and nongovernmental organisations. Students in Governance and International Relations benefit from modules that are specifically designed to highlight the knowledge and skills that are necessary for building a career in the public sector, nongovernmental organisations or business. Our graduates have made careers in a variety of fields, including careers as Members of Parliament, government advisors, the United Nations and in business. All students have the opportunity to undertake a work placement and have a dedicated specialist Employability co-ordinator within the Faculty as well as support from the university's general Careers Service

Faculty of Law, Governance and International Relations

Dear Applicant,

The Faculty of Law, Governance & International Relations will be holding a Taster/Headstart event on Saturday 10 March at our Goulston Street Building.

This event is open to all students (and their family members) who are interested in studying Law, Governance, International Relations or Politics at university.

The day has been specifically designed to give all students interested in studying these subjects a head start in their preparation for joining university regardless of where they choose to study and of course for prospective London Met students to see what we have to offer.

As well as participating in a couple of subject specific sessions to give students a taste of what studying their chosen subject will be like, there will be sessions on student finance, accommodation and degree choices, opportunities to meet with students and staff and perhaps get some ideas about life after university and possible career paths. We will also be running specific sessions for parents to hopefully answer any questions or concerns that they might have.

To view further information about the day and to book your place at this event please see the following web link;
www.londonmet.ac.uk/LGIRtasterdays.

We are really looking forward to welcoming you to London Met and are hopeful of meeting you on March 10.

Yours sincerely
